Decision by Landis Unfair, Says Groh

CINCINNATI, June 11.—Herald Groh, at the end of today's game, issued an open defiance to Judge Landis, refusing to yield to the judge's recent decree, and charged that the judge's action was "unfair and one-sided, and not on the square."

"I signed my contract with the Reds," he said, "and I don't want to play and to make me accept a salary I don't want to take? I won't play ball in this league. Not till Judge Landis gives me a square decision. Not till he gives a decision that isn't all one-sided and unjust. That goes. Tell Judge Landis what I think about the whole affair."

"I must admit," said Groh, "that I gave Groh my word of honor that he would be traded—and now what can I do? Aside from this admission, there is nothing I can say."

Groh practiced with the Reds in the morning. In the afternoon he refused to get into uniform, and a fiery scene in Herrmann's office followed the game.

Summer Camps Beckon Owners Back to Nature

Boom of Memorial Day Gun Starts Exodus From Capital.

When the guns at Fort Myer boomed forth their saddest notes on Memorial day, they exemplified unknowingly that every cloud has a silver lining.

That morn's boom sounded up the Potomac, and it still carries a message to the hot, work weary office tired man of the Capital City. It re-echoes as a message of welcome to the outdoors of the District of Columbia and near by Virginia—it invites patrician and plebeian as well to the cool and sheltered camp grounds of the Potomac river.

The percussion caused by the blast has been almost drowned out by the cheery yell of friendship and good fellowship, which pre-eminently has been the upper water, but the final cheer will go up June 18, after which Saturday afternoon will be free to government employees—then on with the fun.

Season Starts Early.

The camp season of 1921 along the river has started more auspiciously than any heretofore. Camps number hundreds, while they surpass, as far as the early season can show, their previous marks in beauty, taste and quality.

Georgetown bridge, overshadowing the Washington Canoe club, Potomac club and Dempsy's boat-house is the Genesis of river activities. Here is the start of all things, and from here, under Mr. Farley's direction, the canoeists make their way to their summer abodes along the bank. Presidents and myriads of others take their summering to far off places, but believe the campers along our river, and there one must go to find the mild.

Probably the first and certainly one of the finest camps, fittingly termed the epitome of the river by word, "hospitality," is located to dock by "Army" Armbruster, ex-commander, and he led and explained and invited through the 16 tents, telling while the amusingly told, the brotherly atmosphere, the better contentment of the after-workers who paddle by each evening and yell "hot dog," to which the same ex-Commander's answer. This is the motto of the camp.

All The "Fixes."

At Colonial, where there are practically twenty members who breakfast and dine and commute to their various in-town duties, there is a quarter, a big mess tent, there are for dancing, and with those factors which make camp life attractive. The officers are: J. V. Hazzard, commodore; Z. Alvin Biegs, vice commodore; George Irwin, lard, secretary; and Earl E. White, treasurer. C. J. "Army" White, treasurer is a member of the executive board, along with the officers.

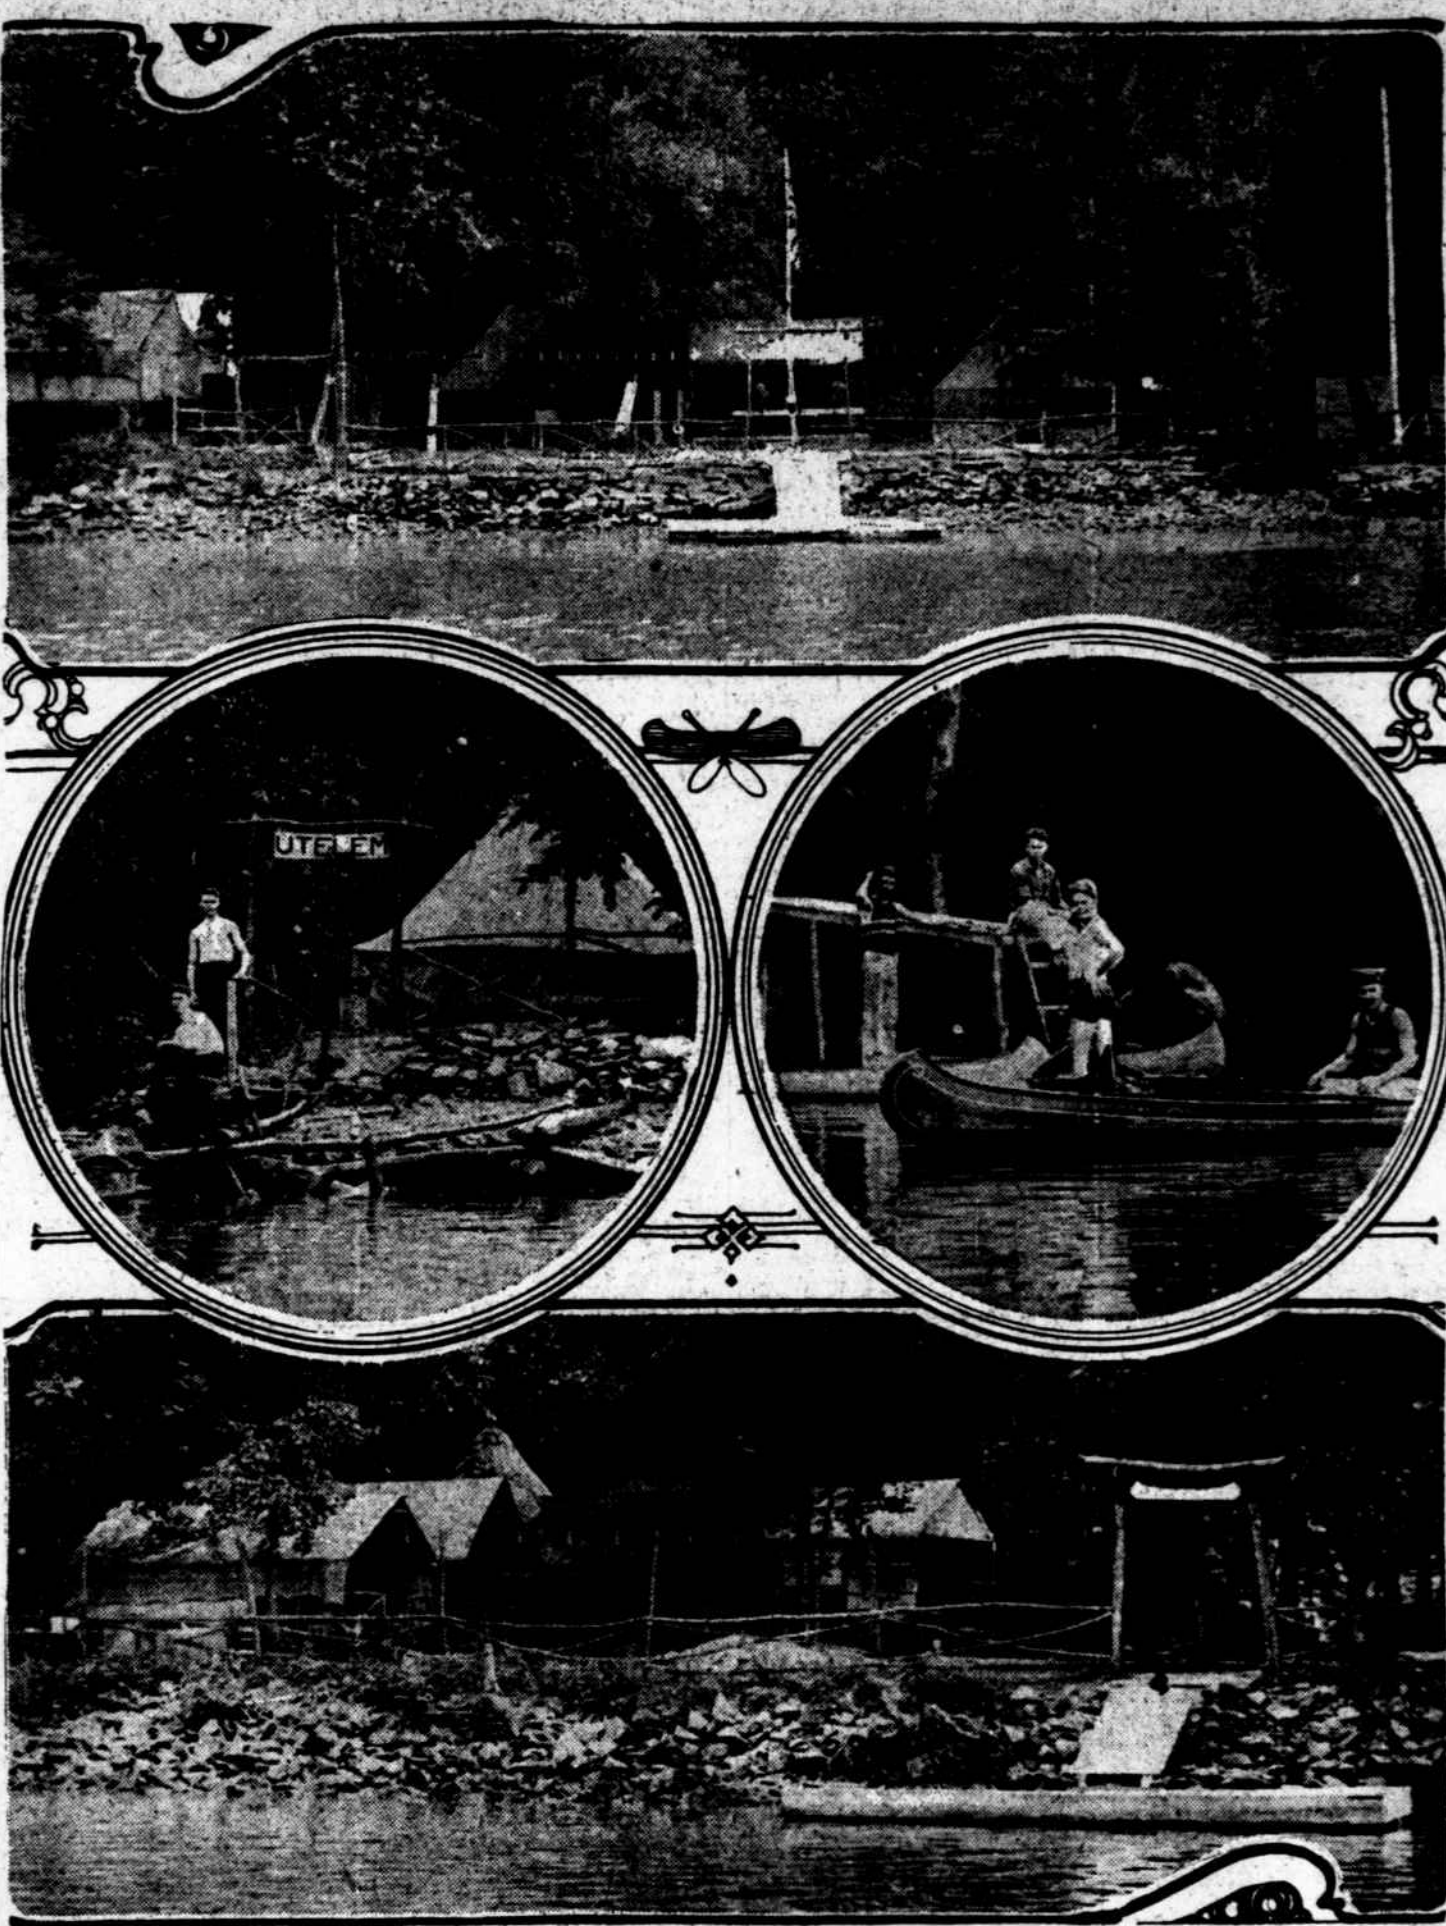

"Army" said they had a pretty good time, which would soon be ready for competitive games. A quartet, which made itself known through the dark trees, told me they were "Bugs" Bogely, "Cuckoo" Ireland, "Red" Saunders and "Judge" Rober. Someone hinted that Mr. and Mrs. White, newlyweds, were "some married couple." They claim to have an ideal honeymoon spot.

Out in the middle of the river there was, and is every night, a soft sound of music. It is carried to every camp each night by one of the fellows who thinks of the other—it is N. T. Hammer, in his roving motor apartment, Chum to Chum the first, is his summer home, and he fries steaks, with mushrooms, and washes his own dishes most every night. Entertainers quite a bit too, for his is a roomy little boat.

Rock Haven Club.

Up just a nice paddle from the bridge, and neighbors to Colonial.

UP-RIVER CAMPS STRONG LURE TO CITY FOLK

What is so rare as a day in June when one can hit himself to a riverside camp and "let the rest of the world go by." Seen in the pictures are three reasons why campers look forward to the coming of summer. The center picture on the right shows an every day happening in the routine of the camper. The campers shown in the center left were asked if their camp was not among the best on the river and the answer came back "Uttem." The Rock Haven club is shown in the top picture while the lower view gives an idea of the size of some of the camps on upper Potomac.

Fort Myer Gets Early Lead.

The Fort Myer four managed to gain an early lead in the first period yesterday.

Following a bit of jockeying for the ball at the first line-up Maj. Patten broke free carrying the oval down the field toward the Cubans' goal. When within 30 yards of the goal he was "smothered" by Col. Silva and Capt. Gimenez. But the two Cubans had too much speed on the drive. The ball had a "hop" on it, almost perfect "pass" to Capt. Sasse. Taking the ball about 15 yards from the posts, but at a bad angle, Sasse riding "Butterball," made the first score of the game. But two minutes had passed.

Fort Myer's second score was made in practically the same way as the first, except that Lieut. Jones instead of Patten made the "assist," and Capt. Cole took Sasse's place on the scoring end of the play. Cole was astride "S.L." and the great work of this pony aided considerably in the score.

Cubans Settle Down.

Apparently the first six minutes of play, which was the length of the period, was but a warm-up for the Cubans, who really settled down to work in the second six minutes.

In this second period they seemed to find themselves, and showed to much better advantage than in the first period.

At the line-up Col. Silva and Lieut. Torres took the ball and carried it to within a few yards of the Fort Myer goal, where an ill-judged swing at the pellet allowed the Virginians to bring it back to mid-field. After a bit of jockeying, Capt. Lombard captured it and sent it down the field with a beautiful drive. The ball had a "hop" on it, which one often sees on a golf ball, but which is a rarity on a polo field. A scrimmage in front of the Fort Myer goal followed this shot, from which Col. Silva emerged with the ball and shot it directly through the posts. This was the most accurate shot of the game. Col. Silva was riding Billy in this period, most of this period, but the Fort Myer four was unable to get through their opponents' defense.

This time they were forced to shoot in their own territory before the break came which gave Capt. Lombard the ball with practically an open field in front of him. Lombard and Torres carried the pellet into Fort Myer territory, where Lombard passed to Gimenez, who tied the score with a near-dribble and an angle shot. Capt. Gimenez was riding Chiquito.

Neither Score in Third.

Neither side scored in the third period. The ball was in the Cubans' territory most of this period, but the Fort Myer four was unable to get through their opponents' defense.

In the fourth period Capt. Cole, astride M. G. got free, for once, a scrimmage in the first two minutes of play, and with Maj. Patten and Lieut. Jones carried the ball to the Cuban goal, where Cole made the score with a shot from an almost impossible angle. In fact, no one knew he had scored until the signal had been flashed.

Maj. Patten and Lieut. Jones, of the Fort Myer team, were on the direct, snelling end of the two scores made in the fifth period.

INTEREST TURNS TO BRITISH OPEN

Ted Ray Declares That Jim Barnes Should Be Dangerous.

By TED RAY.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, June 11.—Never in golfing history has so much interest been shown as in the forthcoming British open championship matches and the struggle which shortly will come off for the blue ribbon of British golf. This already sedate, gray old city of St. Andrews—mecca of the world's golf—is a-glow with excitement.

It is interesting to walk along Market street in this Scottish university and hear the multitude of American idiosyncrasies.

All the Americans except Jim Barnes this afternoon engaged in what is known in America "golfgossip" as a "syndicate."

Hagen got fine length with his wooden club, which made the spectators stand agape as he went around in 74. As a matter of fact, his predecessor as American open champion now is shooting a brand of golf, which is far ahead of that which he exhibited when he was on this side of the Atlantic. Personally, I should not be at all surprised if Hagen, at least, kept the American brigade to the front at the final reckoning.

In reaching the final of the Glen Eagles, 1,000 guineas professional tournament today, young Joe Kirkwood, the Australian professional champion, who will return to Chicago as soon as he is finished with the British championship play, did much to upset the quiet confidence which reigned in the British golfing camp. Abe Mitchell beat him today, 7 and 6, but Kirkwood had good stuff in him.

Takes Grades Easily.

There was not a struggle. The gentle, grade from E. to Euclid, on Sixteenth street, meant no more effort to this car than the long, stiff, steady, winding highway that

ROAD TO FREDERICK REVEALS RARE BEAUTIES OF MARYLAND COUNTRYSIDE IN EARLY SUMMER

(By BERT P. GARNETT)

THE Maryland road commission's official Tom Sawyers have almost finished their spring whitewashing along the road to Frederick. The base of every telephone pole, of every bridge railing, and of even the boulders and cliffs beside the road gleam white and beautiful.

Those expert roadside decorators, the staunch and true squires of Montgomery and Frederick counties have tied up their undulating acres to a delight of spickiness and spangles.

The highway workmen and machines are busy in the few spots along the way that need attention, filling, leveling, widening and it is a thing of perfect safety and joyousness.

The smart, Sam Brown-belted, highway constables are alert and ready for the summer crop of tourists—ready to nab the speeder at his first outburst. And the magistrates! Ah, their Honors, we are told, are ready to collect from the speedy ones, at any moment, sums with which to help build a better Maryland's marvelous road system.

The bowyer tanks, the hawline, the polarine, the texap, and standard oil are all waiting in orderly array.

Tourist.

This first-hand information on the road to the Frederick County Blue Ridge was accumulated by a combination of the District Haynes Corporation and The Herald.

And, come to think of it, perhaps not too much of the credit should go to the Maryland roads. The Haynes Fifty bowled along so smoothly, up-grade and down-grade, and back under its well-tired wheels with such pleasant springiness that the road seemed perfect, whether it was or not.

Takes Grades Easily.

There is a brook that purrs along beside the road—sometimes lazily blinking in the sun as the touring car makes on its way. Sometimes it is a car than the long, stiff, steady, winding highway that

Griffs Earn One Run and Get Others as Result Of Errors.

Zachary Is Knocked Out in Seventh; Schacht Pound- ed in Ninth.

By JACK NYE.

Vague reports going around the circuit that the world champion Cleveland Indians are cracking were verified when "Spoke" Speaker and his men made their 1921 debut on Georgia avenue yesterday. They cracked Mr. Zachary and Mr. Schacht for 15 hits of assorted sizes and handed the Griffins their third consecutive defeat, score 7 to 3.

Stanley Coveleskie, who was serving his moist stuff from the pitcher's box, had a much easier time than the score would indicate. He was nicked for seven hits, but only one of the local runs, was earned. The others were a generous gift through errors on the part of Wambsgans and George Burns. In only one inning were the Griffis allowed to get as many as two hits by the spitball star.

Sewell Is Cracking, Too.

An unusually large crowd turned out to give the champs the once-over and find out if they were, as good as ever. The general opinion prevails that they will be able to take care of themselves for the rest of the summer.

Wearing across their breasts in large letters the "world champions" sign, the Indians looked very much the part. The youthful Joe Sewell at short, was the only new face in the visiting line-up, and the Alabama boy lived up to all that has been said about him. He not only handled everything that came his way around short, but led the batters for the day with a double and three singles in four times at bat.

Despite the superior hitting of the tribe, it was a battle until the ninth. In that frame Al Schacht was shoved in to do the finishing with the visitors one run to the good. The Bronx boy's offerings just suited the opposition and they socked him for three runs. Jamieson and Elmer Smith, who were shoved in to counteract Schacht's right-handed pitching, contributed doubles in this final frame. Spoke's system, of switching batters always has a disconcerting way of bringing trouble.

Mention has not yet been made of Jim Shaw among the local pitchers for the day. All that J. Grunling had to do was to pitch to one batter in the seventh after Zachary had retired by request. He made the husky Burns hit into a double play, which was fortunate, as two men were on the sacks. After that Jim pitched to Earl Smith to bat for him and faded from the scene.

Central "Fish" Take Trophy in Aquatic Meet

J. S. Shear and G. W. Balke Tie in High Point Honors.

Central high school ran away with the point trophy at the Washington Canoe club swimming meet held yesterday on the Potomac opposite the clubhouse float. The Centrallites won three firsts, three seconds and four-thirds for a total of 28 points. Baltimore Central Y. M. C. A., the only other organization within striking distance of the local school boys, took second honors with 16 points. Stragling behind the two leaders came the Baltimore A. C. with six points, George Washington university with five, and Western high and the Washington Canoe club with one lone point apiece.

Shear and Balke Star.

The outstanding stars yesterday were J. S. Shear, unattached, 100 yards South Atlantic record holder, and G. W. Balke, of the Central Y. M. C. A. Both swimmers carried off 10 points apiece. Shear had little difficulty in disposing of the fields opposing him in the 50 and 100 yards open. Balke won an easy victory in the 200 open and captured the $50 from Dana Yung Kwai, of Central, in the closest race of the day. Yung Kwai was "chum" with the oarsmen of the University of California, the crew of which, coupled with Jim Rice's Columbia eight, are looked upon as the main contenders in the big classic against navy's powerful crew. The westerners offered to share their boathouse quarters with the middies owing to the limited facilities, incident to the large number of crews entered for the several races, and the navy management promptly accepted the courtesy. The midshipmen will eat their first work-out on the Hudson tomorrow, as their shell was conveyed by a submarine chaser, will have the huskiest crew in the big brush, as they average, exclusive of oarsmen 180 1-8 pounds. Five of the men rowed in the worlds champion olympic crew last summer.
